Less scrambling. More family time.

The Family Health Playbook

A practical starting point for organizing your family's everyday wellbeing and planning for the unexpected.

ONE SMALL STEP AT A TIME

Gather the essentials. Share the plan. Start a useful family conversation.

Free sample guide | Cover + contents + two practical pages

A calmer place to start

You already carry a lot. This short sample gives you two practical tools to help keep useful information together.

01 Your family essentials sheet

Create one place for trusted contacts and the location of important information. Page 3.

02 Your 20-minute family check-in

Choose a backup plan, share responsibilities and agree on one next step. Page 4.

How to use this guide

Set aside 20 minutes. Fill in what you know. Leave unknown items blank and give each follow-up a date. Share only with people you trust.

This sample is for general organization and education. It is not medical, legal or financial advice. It does not include an insurance quote or promise coverage.

Put the essentials together

When plans change, knowing whom to call and where to look can make the next step easier.

Trusted adult / backup caregiver

Name: _____ Phone: _____

School or childcare contact

Name: _____ Phone: _____

Family healthcare contacts

Practice: _____ Phone: _____

Where we keep important information

Emergency plan / insurance documents: _____

Who knows where to find it?

Name: _____ Review date: _____

Keep this sheet private. Record where sensitive documents are stored rather than copying policy numbers, passwords or medical records here.

One conversation. One next step.

5 min ## Choose your backup

If you are unexpectedly unavailable, who can handle pickup or contact the school? Confirm that person is willing and knows the plan.

5 min ## Share the essentials

Show your trusted adult where the contact sheet and important documents are kept. Check that phone numbers are current.

5 min ## List questions about family protection

What would your family need help paying for if a parent died? Write down questions about existing life insurance and anything you do not understand.

5 min ## Choose one action

Pick a small task, name the person responsible and set a date. You do not need to solve everything today.
